THE SOUTHERN IDEA.

[From the Providence Journal.]

"The next Congress should promptly unseat every member of Congress in whose district there was not a fair and honest election. This is the first hard work to be done."

So says Bob Ingersoll. He speaks for his party. We have not seen a word of dissent from the stalwart programme in a single Northern Republican journal. In view of these proposed outrages, what says our Democratic Congress? Is there no way to save the South from this humiliation, disgrace, turmoil and trouble? Are we to be the footballs of these stalwart villains? If so it would be much better to govern the Southern States by the army. South Carolina, Mississippi and Louisiana would, we doubt not, prefer military rule to negro rule.—Richmond, Va., Dispatch.

What Col. Ingersoll also said at the same time and in the same connection, was "I want this policy adopted, not only in the South but in the North. No man touched or stained with fraud should be allowed to hold his seat." But the quotation of the Dispatch includes "every member." The proposition of Col. Ingersoll is, that no man should hold and retain a seat in Congress who was not elected to Congress; for a dishonest election is no election. To this, the tritest of all possible sentiments, whether viewed morally or politically, the Dispatch objects in terms so astonishing as to be incomprehensible. It does not say that no man have been given certificates of election to the House of Representatives who are not entitled to them; that no Representative claims his seat through force or fraud; but that to inquire whether such a case exists is villainous. It throws to the winds the Constitutional provision that each house of Congress shall be the judge of the elections, returns and qualifications of its own members; it discards all ideas of fairness and honesty in elections, and goes upon the bold ground that the man who gets a certificate in any way, by ballot box stuffing or the shot-gun, shall have and keep his seat.

And it does this upon the theory that dishonest and unfair elections are necessary in some of the Southern States, to prevent "negro rule." It implies that in South Carolina, Mississippi and Louisiana, Democratic members of Congress can be and are elected only by and because of force and fraud, and it says that to unseat a fraudulently, or by force elected, Representative, would be an outrage. The underlying idea is, that the negro must not and will not be allowed to vote. The issue is not as to negro rights or rule in and as to the State. It is the contention of the Dispatch that wherever there is a Republican majority in a Congressional District, composed materially of colored voters, those voters must be suppressed or their votes counted out. In the light of facts in relation to elections in the South, this is pretty "stalwart" doctrine. In so far as the Dispatch speaks Southern sentiment, it is notice to the North that the South will choose its Representatives without regard to and in violation of law, and that it will hold any investigation into its elections by the House as an atrocious interference with Southern right. The South will have to give over this sort of talk and the acts which make it necessary.

SOME QUEER BOSTON NOTIONS.

We publish by request, the peculiarly lucid and logical leading editorial with which the Boston Advertiser recently sought to enlighten the world on "The Maine Question." It would be safe to offer a first-class chromo to the person who could find out what the Advertiser was driving at, although the contradictory, self-stultifying style of argument is fairly representative of much that we hear nowadays. We are informed by it that "Republicans throughout the country would lament and denounce any action" which would place Governor Davis in the executive chair." It is not any wrongful action which would be "lamented," but "any action" that does not put Plaisted in office, whether elected or not. Then the Advertiser proceeds to declare and demonstrate not only that the Constitutional Amendment cannot operate upon the election of 1879, but it affirms that to "decide otherwise is to impair the rights of the minority and perhaps of the two combined minority parties, who together constitute a majority." It asserts that such a claim is "neither wise nor equitable," and actually plants itself squarely upon the ground we have occupied from the outset by saying:

"It may be confidently predicted that if this amendment be allowed to pass as having taken effect simultaneously with the vote upon it, without a thorough judicial examination of the point, the precedent will sooner or later be a troublesome one for those who make it."

And yet, after all this affirmation of Constitutional duty, and all this warning of the inevitable peril of the evasion of duty, the Boston Advertiser concludes that "if there were the least danger" that proceeding in accordance with the Constitution and the Laws could by any possibility result in the election of the Republican candidate, then a "quiet assent" to an unconstitutional counting-in of the Fusionist candidate, "would be the smaller evil." If that is not the "give-away policy" gone to seed we can find no name for it.

THE BAYARD-CONKLING CONTROVERSY.

Correspondence between Senators Conkling and Bayard is published concerning the reported charge of the latter that Secretary Boutwell, Collector Arthur, Judge Noah Davis and Senator Conkling divided the $270,000 recovered by the Government from Phelps, Dodge & Co., for undervalued importations. In reply to Conkling, Bayard inferentially disavowed the report but said he had commented upon the molety that went to the officials and informers and had cited a report that Senator Conkling had been paid by the Custom House officers as their counsel. This reply Senator Conkling characterized as evasive, saying it alleged new and different and if less injurious, yet "offensive and untrue" statements, and he again sharply asked if the report of the speech was correct. To this Senator Bayard replied Nov. 21 with considerable curtness, declaring the report of his speech grossly and he believed maliciously inaccurate, but repeating what he says he did state, and referring as his authority to the testimony of William E. Dodge and District Attorney Noah Davis in the documents of the 43d Congress. What further reply was made by Senator Conkling the despatches sent out last night do not state, but it's safe to say that he will have something more to add to this spicy correspondence.

FITZ JOHN PORTER'S CASE.

[From the New York Times.]

Senator Randolph, of New Jersey, who has been the recognized champion of Fitz John Porter, in Congress, has precipitately abandoned the case as heretofore presented. In the Senate Thursday he gave notice of a bill which is in the nature of a substitute for the pending bill for the relief of Porter, and which is evidently based on the principle involved in the homely saying that "half a loaf is better than no bread." It was not possible that a Congress with a scanty partisan Democratic majority could be able to pass a bill restoring Porter to his former rank in the army, leaving him in the line of immediate promotion on the active list, and giving him back pay to the amount of $60,000. And even if this astonishing result could have been reached, it is unlikely that any Republican President would have given his consent to a measure which was expressly designed to give a martyr's reward to a man whose highest claim to the public gratitude was his determined loyalty to the Democratic candidate who ran for the Presidency against Lincoln in 1864. It is a pity that the question of rehabilitating a military officer with a damaged reputation should be made a political one. But, under the circumstances, this was inevitable. The House Military Committee, on considering this matter, divided on strict party lines.

Perhaps if the late national election had resulted differently, Porter's claims, as now represented in Congress, would have retained greater vitality. If he had any hopes of securing from Congress the full measure of a martyr's reward, that hope must have suffered eclipse when the country returned a Republican majority to the House of Representatives, and chose a Republican President of the United States. Accordingly, we find the guardian of Fitz John Porter's interests offering in the Senate, on the third day of the present session, a bill which surrenders nearly all of Porter's absurd pretensions. Senator Randolph's bill provides that the President be authorized; "in his discretion," to reinstate Porter, provided, however, that this shall give the reinstated officer no higher rank than Colonel on the retired list, and shall not be held to allow him pay or allowances for the time intervening between his dismissal and his restoration. This is a very different thing from putting a cashiered officer into one of the best positions in the Army and giving him a sum of money as back pay and allowances, which might be considered as exemplary damages.

This virtual abandonment of the original case of Porter is one of the fruits of the late election. The proposition to reinstate him was made when the Democracy were in high feather, and Senators like Mr. Beck, of Kentucky, arrogantly informed Republicans that they need give themselves no concern as to the future conduct of public affairs; the Democratic majority would take the responsibility for everything. President Hayes, in his good-natured anxiety to reconcile everybody, convened the revisory board, composed of Gens. Schofield, Terry, and Getty. This board revised the proceedings of the court-martial of 1862, which was composed of nine General officers—Hunter, Hitchcock, King, Prentiss, Ricketts, Casey, Garfield, Buford, and Moore. It is unnecessary to recall the fact that this court, after a long and careful trial of the case, reached a conclusion which met with the general approval of the people of the United States. If there was any popular disappointment over the result finally reached, it was because the punishment inflicted upon Porter was so light.

It was almost inevitable that the Schofield board should have given a judgment which virtually exonerated Porter. This board was convened during the beginning of the Hayes era of rehabilitation and reconciliation, when a flabby sort of good nature, which passed by the name of "magnanimity," was the rule. The board had no power to compel the attendance of witnesses, and men whose testimony might possibly have turned the scale against Porter would not undertake the ungracious task of appearing against him. False swearing before the board did not subject the offender to legal penalties for perjury. The board received a mass of testimony from rebel sources which was designed to show that Porter, in disobeying orders in the face of the enemy, had really done a meritorious thing, although it was not pretended that he then knew what was the state of affairs inside of the rebel lines. This "new evidence" could not be presented to the court-martial of 1862 in extenuation of Porter's disobedience because Porter did not have it. Yet it was used in 1879 to procure a favorable judgment from the Schofield board. And on this testimony and that favorable judgment Fitz John Porter has appealed to Congress for reinstatement and a revocation of sentence. It may be considered a great concession that a man who has claimed back pay for eighteen years, and one of the highest places in the army from which he was once disgracefully dismissed, should now be willing to compromise on a Colonelcy on the retired list, with no back pay. As Mr. Porter undoubtedly believes himself to be a greatly injured man, this must be his view of the case. But it is also clear that this opinion has been formed since the Presidential election has upset so many fine schemes and has so greatly clarified the political vision. Mr. Porter was fairly tried and justly condemned. There has not been adduced a scintilla of evidence to warrant a reversal of the judgment in his case, even when such a reversal should merely give him a clean record instead of one that is clouded and spotted.

Locomotive builders in New York have so many orders that some of them will enlarge their works. A new foreign customer has entered the American market. Spain having sent orders for six or eight railway engines.

SUSPENSION OF COAL MINING. The Tribune says the coal companies on Friday last agreed upon a restriction of production until March. It was agreed that, beginning with next Thursday, they should suspend mining three days each week during the rest of this month and through January and February. The suspension is to be absolute for the alternate three days during this period, and no allowance will be made for any restriction previously made by the companies. The Pennsylvania Coal Company, which reduced its circular prices, will advance them immediately 10 cents a ton.

ANOTHER VICTIM. Charles Smith, a young telegraph operator in Batavia, N. Y., while passing last Sunday at his parent's home, began to clean a revolver, when his mother told him he ought notito do it on that day. She had scarcely spoken when the weapon was discharged and she was shot dead. The son did not know that it was loaded.—N. Y. Post.

The gifts of the late Samuel Williston to the Easthampton seminary bearing his name will amount, all told, to $850,000, when the provisions of his will are fully carried out.

THE MAINE QUESTION.

[From the Boston Daily Advertiser.]

The lawyers of Maine are having a good time in discussing the validity of the so-called retroactive clause of the recently accepted amendment. There is, of course, no Democratic lawyer who takes ground against its validity, and most of the Republican disputants are with them. The line of argument which appears to be most popular is to the effect that the Constitutional amendment, having been adopted, and its adoption having been proclaimed, is now a part of the Constitution, that it is the amended Constitution which members of the Legislature will take oath to obey; and that they must be governed by that Constitution in declaring the result of the election.

That is an ingenious way of looking at the matter, but have not our Maine friends had enough of temporary expedients and fine-spun theories? Republicans throughout the country would lament and denounce any course of action which should place Governor Davis in the executive chair. He was not elected under the rule which Republicans themselves established, and whether that rule is valid or not it would be unseemly to the last degree for Republicans to take advantage of its invalidity. But, on the other hand, there is a grave doubt as to the applicability of that amendment to an election simultaneously held. Moreover there is an objection to all constitutional changes so hastily made as this one. It may be confidently predicted that if this amendment be allowed to pass as having taken effect simultaneously with the vote upon it, without a thorough judicial examination of the point, the precedent will sooner or later be a troublesome one for those who make it.

The argument which we have briefly summarized is not conclusive. The warrants for the election in September summoned the people to vote for a governor according to the Constitution and laws as they existed. The election was held under that system. The count of the votes and declaration of the result are not a part of the election, and when the Legislature has that part of its duty to perform, it must act in accordance, not with the Constitution as it was after the amendment was adopted, but with the laws governing at the time the election was ordered. To decide otherwise is to impair the rights of the minority, and perhaps of two combined minority parties, who, together, constitute a majority. It must be remembered that there is not even substantial identity between the political majority and the supporters of the amendment. A year ago, members of minority parties possessed a well-defined right, that namely, of selecting their votes without loss. That is to say, the winning party must have an absolute majority, and every vote in opposition, for whomsoever cast, was effective in preventing the success of its ticket. It is not reasonable to hold that a right of this sort can be taken away at the very moment it is being exercised under the law. It is neither wise nor equitable that it should be so. Nevertheless, if there were the least danger that, the view being taken that the amendment as applied to the election that has taked place is invalid, the Legislature would take advantage of it to commit the outrage of electing Governor Davis, in quiet assent to the validity of the new clause would be the smaller evil.

POLITICAL AND PERSONAL.

This says the Atlanta Constitution, is a good time to plant holiday advertisements.

Wood is so expensive now-a-days in Connecticut that real nutmegs are cheaper than the Connecticut article.—Boston Post.

A prominent citizen of Chicago, John F. Burrill, has been divorced from his wife without even his or his wife's knowledge.

Senator Thurman, it is reported, intends to live permanently in Washington and practice at the bar of the United States Supreme Court.

General Samuel C. Lawrence of Medford, has been elected Grand Master of the Most Worshipful Grand Lodge of Free and Accepted Masons of Massachusetts.

Not everybody will be able to see the Nautch girls, but everybody can get a pretty good idea of their dance by putting two hornets down the housemaid's back.

The New Orleans Picayune says that the old boys in blue are growing gray; but the Philadelphia Bulletin reports that the old boys in gray, just after election, grew very blue.

The Constitution of Florida provides that after 1880 the Legislature shall pass a law making an educational qualification for voters. This is likely to cut down the colored vote.

Thomas Hughes has returned to England, and there pronounces his East Tennessee colony scheme a success, and recommends emigration there as the true remedy for discontent and failure at home.

According to the Hartford Courant an existing law of Connecticut declares that "every horse used in any horse-race, and on which any wager is laid, or any purse or stake made, shall be forfeited to the State."

Governor St. John, of Kansas, presents a very encouraging picture of the self-reliance of the negroes who have gone to that State. Out of the 40,000 who have reached it not 500 are now receiving aid from a relief association, through when they came nearly all were destitute. Over 30,000 were in need of aid on their arrival.

The New York Post says that "Mr. Lincoln Black twenty years ago doubted that the Government of the United States had power adequate to self-preservation. That Mr. Black now takes a view of the relations of the Government and the railroads which would satisfy the most ardent Granger is a striking illustration of the change of opinion which is going on in regard to a question of overshadowing importance."

The Chicago Tribune says that there should be no cause for surprise in the fact that the Republican vote of Illinois was 33,800 larger than in 1876, while the Democratic vote shows an increase of only 19,000. The young men of the country are not casting their political lot "with the mildewed and unsavory organization known as the Democratic party."

BERNHARDT IN NEW YORK.

[From the N. Y. Times.]

Before Sarah Bernhardt had come to this country, in pursuance of her professional engagement, there was considerable speculation, private and public, as to her social acceptance here. Some persons held that she would be invited to private houses, particularly in New York, as she had been in London, to give entertainments and to receive social honors. Others, and they were largely in the majority, were of a contrary opinion. They did not believe that any American city would imitate the folly, to put it mildly, of the British capital; that it would receive in their homes a celebrated actress with antecedents which would prevent all thought of such a reception had she been merely in private life. They were entirely correct in their judgment. Bernhardt has come and gone. She was eminently successful on the stage; the receipts of the four weeks of her performances—six a week—having reached nearly $60,000. The receipts of the Francais in the same time could never have seen much more than half the amount; for 60,000, a week, or more than 10,000 a night, would be regarded as most extraordinary even at the theatre which counts itself the first of the world. Socially, the success of Bernhardt was nil. Nobody invited her; nobody called on her; nobody, in a society sense, recognized her existence. This is, under the circumstances, as it should have been, and reflects credit upon the good sense and prosperity of the Metropolis. The intellectual and refined were pleased to flock to the play-house to witness her fine impersonations. They were not disposed to stay away because she had violated the canons of morality in her individual relations. They went to see her as an artist, not as a woman. If the playgoing public does not concern itself with an actor's private life, why should it with the private life of an actress?

Card.

This may certify that I, having been acquainted with Mr. John N. Farnham, of this city, for some twenty years last past, can most cheerfully recommend him to the sick and afflicted as a person possessing very high attainments for a gentleman nurse. As a nurse, he has had much experience with the sick in private families and in our hospitals. He makes the business of nursing a profession, and he honors it and excels in it. He is skilful, courteous and humane towards his patients. He is vigilant and untiring in his efforts to supply their every want. He is true to the physician or surgeon who may be in attendance. He carries out the treatment prescribed to the very letter. When the physician or surgeon returns, after being absent for a time, Mr. Farnham gives him an accurate account of all that has been done and the results. This is just and honorable towards all parties. Mr. Farnham is a blessing to his race and is doing great good to suffering humanity. Thus his sphere of usefulness may extend wherever necessity requires, is the sincere desire of his humble servant.

A discovery which cures by the natural process, ABSORPTION, all diseases of the Kidneys, Bladder, Urinary Organs and Nervous System, when nothing else can. It is comfortable to the patient, positive in its effects, and the first cure for those painful and much dreaded affections.

Diabetes and Bright's Disease, while its cures of Gravel, Dropsy, Catarrh of the Bladder, Brickdust Deposit, Painful Urinating, Thick Colored Urine, Nervous Weakness and Pain in the Back seem more like miracles than cases of natural healing. The Price brings it within the reach of all, and it will annually save many times its cost in doctors' bills, medicines and plasters, which at best give but temporary relief. It can be used without fear or harm, and with certainty of a permanent cure. For sale by druggists generally, or sent by mail (free of postage) on receipt of the price. Regular Pad, $2.00; Child's Pad (or incontinence of urine in children) $1.50; Special (extra size) $3.00. Our book, "How a Life was Saved," giving the history of this new discovery and a large record of most remarkable cures sent free. Write for it. Address

DAY KIDNEY PAD CO., TOLEDO, OHIO.

CAUTION. Owing to the many worthless Kidney Pads now seeking a sale on our reputation, we deem it due the afflicted to warn them. Ask for DAY'S KIDNEY PAD, and take no other.

Farm Buildings Burned.

PORTLAND, Dec. 11. The farm buildings of C. G. Carver, of North Gorham, were burned at noon Friday; cause defective flue; loss two thousand; partially insured.

Post Office Appointments.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 11. Postmasters appointed for Maine: George W. Pratt, Guilford, Piscataquis County; Mrs. Rebecca F. Rounds, Minot, Androscoggin County; L. M. Woodman, North Leeds, Androscoggin County; Mrs. M. J. Robertson, Orient, Aroostook County.

WASHINGTON.

Report of the Inspector General of Steam Vessels.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 11. James A. Dumont, Supervising Inspector General of steam vessels, in his annual report, shows that during the year the total number of vessels inspected was 4536; total tonnage of vessels inspected, 112,180.825; total number of officers licensed, 16,661; showing an increase over the preceeding year as follows:

Increase in the number of vessels, 248; increase in tonnage, 2,945 383; increase in the number of licensed officers, 1449. Total number of lives lost by accidents from various causes during the fiscal year ended June 30, 1880; was, explosions, 22; fires, 52; collisions, 66; snag wrecks and sinkings, 14; accidental drowning, 25; miscellaneous casualties, 6; total lives lost, 185. Total number of accidents to steam vessels during the year resulting in a loss of life, explosions, 13; fire, 4; collisions, 6; snag shipwrecks and sinking, 6; total 26.

A detailed statement is then given showing the districts in which the casualties occurred and the report concludes as follows:

"I respectfully invite attention to the small percentage of lives lost as compared with former years, when the number of passengers carried was much less. Out of perhaps 220,000,000 passengers transported in steam vessels during the last twelve months, a daily average of over 6,000,000, but 185 lives have been lost through cases incidental to steamboat travel; 103 of which number were passengers, and I feel warranted in asserting the fact that only one person lost out of every 1,000,000 persons carried, argues a degree of intelligence and skill on the part of licensed officers of the steam vessels and officers of this service, unsurpassed and scarcely equalled in any other service. 'No mode of travel at the present day, whether by railway, horse car, carriage, or even the common farm wagon, presents so low a per centage of accidents as the travel by steam vessels."

Resignations.

It is officially announced that Secretary Thompson has tendered his resignation to take effect as soon as his successor is appointed. This step is taken by the Secretary to enable him to accept the chairmanship of the American Branch of the Panama Inter-oceanic Canal Company. It is reliably stated to-night that Justic Strong will occupy his seat on the Supreme bench to-morrow for the last time, it being his purpose to retire immediately. It is also learned that he has accepted an office of employment hereafter as counsel for the Philadelphia and Reading Railroad Company.

Their loss is $11,000. C. A. Damon, boot and shoe manufacturer, loses $3000. The two latter have partial insurance. Fifty persons are thrown out of employment.

Fatal Accident.

BOSTON, Dec. 11. A knob machine charged with gas, used in the Vienna baking establishment on Ruggles street, exploded with great force, badly shattering one side of the building. A flying piece of iron struck G. K. Washington, the proprietor, on the head, fracturing his skull and fatally injuring him.

Another Bookkeeper Gone Wrong.

Fred L. Almy, bookkeeper for E. G. Smith & Co., wholesale grocers, at Worcester, was arrested in that city to-night, charged with embezzling $50,000 for fast living.

A Horrible Tragedy.

LAWRENCE, Dec. 12. A horrible tragedy occurred here to-night, a woman being shot and instantly killed by her paramour, who is a married man with a family, who also afterwards attempted to take his own life. The victim, Avis Pinkham, was employed as a table girl in boarding house No 9, of the Pacific corporation; the assassin is Knapton Wardman, until recently overseer of the Washington Mills. The facts are as follows: Wardman and Miss Pinkham after returning from a walk this evening stood conversing on the corner of Franklin and Lincoln streets, when Wardman suddenly drew a revolver and pushing Miss Pinkham against a high board fence, he shot her in the head behind the right ear.

A later despatch says Wardman immediately went home after the tragedy and shot himself. He is not expected to live.

THE FIRE FIEND.

OVER ONE HUNDRED BUILDINGS BURNED IN PENSACOLA FLORIDA.

Many Families Homeless and in the Streets.

Loss From $500,000 to $750,000.

PENSACOLA, Dec. 11. A disastrous fire has been burning here for eight hours. Five blocks in the heart of the city are burned with a loss of more than $500,000; possibly $750,000. Palafax street from Wilrick's corner to the middle of the block opposite the Plaza is swept clean. The fire stopped in Government street at City Hotel on the east, and one square back of the Custom House, on the west. Over one hundred establishments are gone, embracing the main business buildings, and turning out about fifty families from their homes.

The Custom House, Post Office, Merchants Hotel, Brents bank, both telegraph offices, both newspaper offices, Dunn's Exchange, Wrights' dry goods house, and the County Clerk's office are among the well-known buildings destroyed. The County Clerk, (Mr. Larned) for the fifth time in his term of office, saved the records, but while doing this his own residence was burned and he is now hunting for his family. The main steam fire engine was out of order and had to be repaired before it could be used. At one time the loss of the railroad depot and adjacent mills seemed certain, and the locomotives stood all night with fires up ready to pull the company's equipments out of town. Much suffering must ensue.

The fire originated in the confectionery store of Mr. Dunnigan. His family resided above the store and several of them were burned, Mrs. Damiani fatally.

Insurance is held by those burned out to the amount of about $250,000, and it may go to $300,000. The Custom House papers were all lost, but the Post Office and United States coast clerks saved their mail and papers. The individual losses and insurance are not yet known.

Broken up by the Fire.

PENSACOLA, Dec. 11. The Methodist Conference adjourned to-night, the session being cut short by the partial destruction of the city. The ministers filled the pulpits to-day and called for donations for the sufferers who lost their homes. A reaction is taking place, and after the great personal suffering is relieved, it seems that Pensacola will arise from the calamity more modern than ever.

OHIO.

Sad Loss of Life by Fire.

CINCINNATI, Dec. 11. A fire occurred in John T. Gray's bucket factory to-night, in which five persons were burned to death. The fire burned a large portion of the building of the Crown Manufacturing Co., which made kindling wood and window ornaments. The firemen while on the second floor were overtaken by a sudden burst of flame and steam and were killed. The bodies were recovered after the fire had subsided amid great excitement. The known loss by fire is $25,000. Assistant Fire Marshal Wisby was injured. When the bodies of the dead were reached they were found stretched on the floor some distance apart, indicating that they had fallen stifled and suffocated by the smoke and burning blasts of air which struck them with sudden ferocity.

MICHIGAN.

Pension Frauds.

DETROIT, Dec. 11. In the U. S. Court James C. Richardson, (colored) was convicted last evening of conspiracy to defraud the Government through bogus pension claims. Indians bound for Washington.

CHICAGO, Dec. 11. The party of Sioux chiefs which left Cheyenne agency Monday took the train from here this afternoon for Washington, accompanied by Leonard Love, Indian Agent, and W. Fields, Interpreter.

NEW YORK.

Not Encouraging for our Icemen.

NEW YORK, Dec. 11. Ice cutting began in Hudson County, N. J., to-day. The school houses in Jersey City were closed yesterday on account of the cold.

Cold weather continues and ice is beginning to make in the harbor. Thermometer 5 above; wind light, northwest.

The Drew Theological Seminary.

Dr. S. F. Upham, of Boston, has been elected Professor of Practical Theology of the Drew Theological Seminary, and Prof. Henry A Butts has been elected President of the Seminary.

Jay Gould's Conservatory Burned.

The conservatory of Jay Gould, at Irvington, on the Hudson, considered the most magnificent structure of the kind in the country, was destroyed by fire early this morning. Loss reported to be about $100,000.

Will Appeal.

BUFFALO, Dec. 11. C. J. Hamlin, President of the Buffalo Grape Sugar Co., will appeal from the decision against the company at Batavia, in which the plaintiff J. L. Alberger, received a verdict for $247,125.

A Gang of Counterfeiters Arrested.

A gang of counterfeiters have been arrested here, comprising Joseph Leimlorth and Henry Russell of Brooklyn, Charles Marsh, Thomas Johnson, B. S. Barnard, Wm. Spiker, E. P. Parsons and Andrew Yates. They are held for examination. The arrest is said to be a very important one.

A strange way to collect a debt.

NEW YORK, Dec. 12. John O'Neill aged forty-five, of Brooklyn was fatally assaulted last night by Edward Geoghan, who claimed that O'Neil owed him a dollar and when denied, he struck him with a pitchfork on the head fracturing his skull.

Sundry Items.

Officer Slater, of the United States Secret Service, who was stabbed in a photograph gallery yesterday by Andrew Yates, whom he was trying to force to have a picture taken, is not so badly hurt as was first supposed. There is no immediate danger of a fatal result.

OTTAWA, Dec. 10. The address in reply to the speech from Lord Lorne was adopted in the Commons Thursday night. The arrangement made with the Canadian Pacific Railway syndicate was presented to-night, and will come up for debate next week. The contract to build the road is made with Gen. Stephen and Duncan McIntyre of Montreal, J. S. Kennedy of New York, A. B. Angus and J. J. Hill of St. Paul, Minn., Morton Ross & Co. of London, England, and Konk Reinach & Co. of Paris, France, who will be known as the Canadian Pacific Railroad Company. The capital stock is to be $25,000,000. The directors are to be, Geo. Stephen, Duncan McIntyre, J. S. Kennedy, R. B. Angus, J. J. Hill, H. Stafford, Northcote, P. P. Cresenell, C. D. Ross—the three latter of London, England—and Baron Reinach, of Paris. The chief place of business will be at Montreal.

DUBLIN, Dec. 11. Boycotting has become so common that only a small percentage of cases find their way into the papers. At Ennis, County Clare, a small landlord named Lyons brought four car loads of oats to market but could not sell them as he had difficulty with his tenants. Col. O'Callaghan, of Limerick, and family are absolutely cut off from all communication with the outer world. The servants and laborers have all left. The Colonel and his wife never leave their house without revolvers.

At Swanlinbar and Belcar fairs a bellman went about warning people not to buy or sell except to Leaguers. Cattle bought from non-Leaguers were followed on the road and returned to their former owners. Butter brought from Pettigor market from Belcex belonging to non-Leaguers could not be sold. At Enniskillen, fair Friday, several parties could not sell their cattle. The police were unable to trace the perpetrators, being afforded no information by the people. Gormerly, who shot the bailiff near Cookstown has been committed on charge of willful murder.

LONDON, Dec. 11. Parnell has received a letter warning him under pain of death not to appear at the forthcoming land meeting in Pomeroy, County Tyrone.

PARIS, Dec. 11. The first number of Jerome Bonaparte's new organ, Le Napoleon, contains a programme drawn up by several Bonapartist deputies. It asserts the right of the Napoleonic Dynasty, represented since the death of the Prince Imperial by Prince Jerome. It accuses the Republic of violating the security of liberty by monastic explosions and demands a plebiscite on the form of government, or, if this is refused, a reform of the constitution. The programme aims at peace abroad; the defence of religion and the army. It advocates liberty of conscience subject to the rights of the State; at the protection of the army from political influence; a reduction of expenditure and a revision of taxation for the benefit of artizans and peasantry. The Bonapartist group, in an appeal to the people, have also issued a manifesto very similar to the foregoing.

LONDON, Dec. 12. Forster, Chief Secretary for Ireland, has left Dublin for London unexpectedly. It is stated that a battalion of Scotch Guards will shortly proceed to Ireland. It is desired to have the society fully represented at this meeting, and all who can are requested to be present.

SETTLED. The trouble between the Grand Southern and the St. John and Maine, relative to the Carleton switch, is at an end. It seems that the latter company put a new style of lock on the switch one day last week, of which the Grand Southern were not notified. In endeavoring to get past the switch, having previously failed in trying to get a key, it was found necessary to break the lock. A new lock has been put on and new keys furnished and the matter is now straightened out.

REFORM CLUB. A large audience assembled at City Hall yesterday at the Reform Club meeting. Vice President Sheedy presided. The devotional services were conducted by Mrs. Pickard, of the Crusade, and Dr. Lincoln, of the Club. Remarks were made by Messrs. Sheedy, Kenney, Clark, S. F. Walker, Stevens, Page and President Montgomery, of the Club, and Mrs. Pickard and Mrs. Crossman, of the Crusade. The meeting closed by the choir singing, "Not Half has Ever Been Told."

THE OLD CUSTOM. The Home Farm says, that the old custom of driving cattle to Brighton, has been lately revived by some of our Maine drovers. During the past autumn Messrs. Rackliffe & Howe, of Unity, put through several droves on the foot, and were pleased with the success they met with. They tell us they can get a drove of cattle from Waldo county to Brighton, by driving them, at one-half the cost of transporting by rail, and get them there in far better condition, so that they command a far higher price than those brought by rail."

LEFT THE KEY IN THE WRONG POCKET. A few nights since a member of the Grange in a neighboring town, attended a meeting of the order, driving from his home in a team as the hall was some distance. As the weather was very cold he put on an old overcoat, which he left in the pung, but when he came out of the hall he found that it had mysteriously disappeared, some one having stolen it. The coat was of very little value, but unfortunately it contained the key of his house, and when he returned home he was obliged to stand round in the cold until he succeeded in making noise enough to arouse some of the family.

THE ICE BUSINESS. The outlook for the icemen on this river is not particularly encouraging at the present time. The weather lately has been exceedingly cold all over the country, a despatch recd Saturday stating that ice cutting had already commenced in Hudson county, New Jersey, where even the schools were closed on account of the extreme cold. The permanent houses on the river will be filled this winter, but unless there is an unusual change in the weather no ice will be stacked. The fields in some parts of the river are smooth and nice, while in others they are very uneven where the vessels passed through the ice, and will require considerable planing.

PARALYSIS OF THE BRAIN. Mr. Allen Nason, of East Corinth, a farmer about sixty-five years old, went into the woods, Friday, about half a mile from his home, to get a load of wood. While there he was attacked by the dread disease paralysis and congestion of the brain, and fell senseless beside his sled. His wife at last became alarmed by his long absence, and went in search of him and found him lying on the snow in a comatose state. Being unable to take him home alone she walked some three miles and procured assistance. Mr. Nason was carried home and a physician summoned. His recovery is considered improbable.—Commercial.

A STRAY HORSE. Saturday evening a stray horse attached to a sled walked into Mr. W. B. Gould's back yard, on Union street, and as no one came to claim the team, the horse was placed in the stable for the night. Yesterday Mr. Gould visited the station house and left a description of the team, so that the owner might call and recover his property. Soon after he went out a man called and asked the police if they had heard anything about a stray team, and as his description tallied with Mr. Gould's they told him where it could be found. The man said he left the horse standing on Hammond street Saturday evening, and when he came out of the store the animal had disappeared.

SALMON BREEDING. We understand that Hon. E. M. Stillwell, our efficient Fish Commissioner, is making arrangements to establish a fish-hatching room in this city. It will be located in the building on Merrill's wharf on Front street, and workmen will commence digging the trench for the water pipes to-day. Some three hundred thousand fish will be hatched here, as the water at Orland is so warm that there is danger of bringing the fish forward before the ice leaves the Penobscot. This difficulty will be obviated here as the water will come directly from the river through the Holly pipes. Mr. Stillwell will forward 100,000 salmon eggs to Moosehead Lake for the waters of the Kennebec; 100,000 to Norway for Sebago Lake; and 100,000 to Rangely Lake for the Androscoggin river.

THRIVING ON ONE MEAL A DAY. The Lewiston Journal says: Our Lewiston Edison, the inventor Silver, has been experimenting upon himself for past two or three years. For several months he has eaten but one meal a day, and that about 10 o'clock in the evening, immediately before retiring. He works ten hours a day at his machinist's post, without eating or drinking anything. His friends have put no brake on his door. Instead of pining away and dying, Mr. Silver has gained thirty-five pounds in flesh. He is not hungry until bed time. He drinks nothing—neither water, milk, tea nor coffee. All the fluids his stomach receives are from the fruit and vegetables which make up the major part of his living. He eats no meat, as he believes animal food is animalizing. He lives mainly on oatmeal and graham without salt. He eats apples, grapes and all fruits liberally. His friends say he is extraordinarily good natured, much stronger and healthier.

CASE OF SMALL POX. Last week two young men returned home to Fairfield, on the Pullman train from Washington Territory. On the way one of them complained somewhat but was able to walk from the station, one mile, to the house of George Cotton. The doctor was with him during the day, and until Wednesday noon saw nothing indicating this terrible disease, and then only a slight eruption. The house was immediately closed; signals put out, the other young man notified; nurses provided, and every possible precaution taken. No one saw the young man from the time of the first breaking out until he died last Saturday afternoon, except the doctor and nurses. His death was caused by internal hemorrhage and not by the malignancy of the disease.

THE NEW RAILROAD PROJECT. Capt. Chas. Spear, who for the past five years has been connected with the Eastern Railroad, has resigned his position on that road to become the St. John general agent of the Provincial and New England All Rail Line. He is an active business man, well acquainted with the requirements of the public, and his appointment at the head of the important agency at St. John seems eminently judicious. Capt. Spear left for St. John Saturday morning accompanied by Mr. T. R. Wasgatt, who will act as his assistant. Mr. W. was once clerk of one of the Sanford steamers, and is well known here. The agency will be established in the central part of the city where it will be convenient for business purposes. Capt. Spear and Superintendent McLeod will go to Moncton to-day to confer with the officials of the Intercolonial Railway in relation to the traffic of the new line.

A HARD CASE. The many friends in this city who have visited the hospitable home of Doc. Wooster, situated on the borders of Pleasant Lake, will regret to learn that his dwelling was burned on Thursday night last, he and his family escaping in their night clothes. Pleasant Lake is situated about ten or twelve miles from Springfield, Me. Mr Wooster and family, consisting of a wife and four small children, were obliged to travel, on that cold and disagreeable night, three miles to a camp to keep from freezing. The citizens of Springfield have promptly responded to their wants. Mr. Wooster has never been blessed with a liberal share of this world's goods, but like the most of men who enjoy a life of hunting and fishing he is generous to a fault, and all who have visited his secluded home have always found the latch-string on the outside of the door.

RUNAWAYS. Just at dark Saturday evening a runaway horse dashed across Kenduskeag bridge and turned down Exchange street. The driver whose name we were unable to learn, was tipped out on the corner of Fourth street, and when the horse passed the WHIG office the sleigh was dragging on its side. The horse narrowly escaped colliding with several teams, but we failed to learn that any serious damage was done. Yesterday afternoon as John Larry, Jr., and wife of Hampden, were driving up to the city, a bolt gave away, just this side of the red bridge, letting one side of the thills drop down against the horse's heels. This naturally frightened the animal and he started up the road at full speed. Mrs. Larry jumped out and escaped uninjured, but Mr. Larry clung to the horse until one of the reins broke and then he got out of the sleigh, as the horse was beyond his control. The animal also left the sleigh soon after this, and dashed through Central street on the sidewalk with one of the thills trailing behind him, but was captured before doing any further damage. Mr. Larry borrowed another sleigh and then started out to finish his ride.

RIFLE SHOOTING. Col. E. C. Farrington, Inspector of Rifle Practice for the State, is one of the best shots in Maine and an enthusiast in rifle practice. It is owing mainly to his exertions that we have had the various contests on the Staterange this fall. Col. Farrington is now preparing a manual giving full directions in regard to the use and care of rifles, which is to be placed in the hands of every member of the Maine militia. A regimental team of twelve men, with three substitutes, is to be organized in each of the Maine regiments. These teams will probably contest for a prize trophy next year. It is proposed among gentlemen in this city to provide a cup, suitably inscribed, to be shot for by representatives of the various papers in the State. Last week the knights of the quill and paste pot in Boston, had a very pleasant shoot, in which the Herald team bore off the honors. What say you, brother scribes, shall we astonish the world by our achievements before the target? Of course the solid members of the profession, on the editorial force, would hardly care to enter, but we think there ought to be half-a-dozen young fellows on the press of Maine who can shoot. Shall we face the target?—Kennebec Journal.

BOWDOIN COLLEGE NOTES. Over $300 have been subscribed for the support of the base ball nine during the next season. This will assure the making of a trip to Massachusetts next summer. Owing to a lack of funds last season, a trip outside of the State was impossible, and the club were debarred from playing with the leading college nines of the country. The prospect for the future, however, is exceedingly bright; and with the above subscription as an incentive, the base ball interest will be vigorously pushed forward.——A musical association has been formed of about sixty members, including a large number of the students. The services of Mr. Kotchmar, of Portland, have been secured, and under his efficient instruction rapid advances are expected.——About twenty-five members of the college have gone out teaching in different parts of the State. They usually finish their labors in season for the reviews of the winter term.——The Senior and Junior exhibition will take place on Thursday evening, the 16th. The Seniors who will participate have already been mentioned. The following Juniors have been appointed to take part: Bates, Belcher, Merryman, Stinchfield. The term dance will take place after the exhibition. Music by Chandler.——A series of six "Germans" are being arranged by Prof. Rosenberg, of Bath, to occur at intervals during the winter term. This dance is becoming quite popular among "trippers of the light fantastic."——The removal to Portland of the property of the Maine Historical Society has commenced. It is a matter of regret to both citizens and students that such a move was deemed advisable, notwithstanding it may be an advantageous one for the society.——The fall session closes Friday the 17th, following which is a vacation of nineteen days.——The Bugle will be out next Wednesday. Subscriptions have been obtained sufficient to insure its success financially.

Decision in Law.

The following decision has been received by Ruel Smith, Esq., Clerk of the Eastern Law District:

PENOBSCOT COUNTY CASE.

George H. Bowen & als. vs. Aravesta H. Peters & als. "Exceptions overruled."

Reports.—It is true, as a general proposition, that a part owner of a vessel, in undisputed possession, will be regarded as having implied authority to bind the other owners for things necessary for the vessel and its employment; unless the evidence disclosed some circumstances to indicate that such implication of agency is contrary to the fact. From the fact that a vessel, like any other chattel, is in the possession and management of one part-owner, in port the business in which the vessel is engaged is conducted by his authority, and that this state of things is acquiesced in by the other owners, a fair and reasonable presumption arises that such possession of the common property and conduct of the business pertaining to it, are in the interest and for the benefit of all; that the others assent to such use of the property, and expose to share the burdens and the gains. Under any state of facts which leaves this presumption in full force, the plaintiff is entitled to recover against all for debts so incurred by the direct authority of one upon the credit of all.

As to those who have business matters to make the vessel seaworthy, upon the order of a part owner in such possession, even if it be in the home port, the presumption remains, unless there is something in the nature of the place of registry or enrollment, or of the owner's residence, to remove it; something to indicate that the contract was not acting and managing the vessel for all, with their assent implied, but on the contrary, was proceeding independently of the others in his own behalf either in disregard of the rights of his associates and against their will, or by arrangement with them; so that his assumption of authority to bind them was wrongful. If the residence of the owners, not consulted, is the part of such a fact not known to the contractor, but particularly if nothing was within his knowledge which tended to remove the prima facie presumption of authority, and to put him upon inquiry; and more especially still, if the case when presented shows at least by fair inference that the possession and management by one had been acquiesced in by all without dissent—all of which conditions are met by the present case.—then by the direction of the one so in possession such necessary repairs and outfit may be charged to all and recovery may lie had against them.

The case of Elder vs. Larrabee, and other cases considered in this case, are in point.

The report does not show an attempted delegation by one part-owner of the power to bind another. It shows rather the act of the principal, the part-owner, in his own behalf.

The ground of liability is the possession and management by the principal owner without dissent by the others made known even to her, and without anything to show that her conduct of the business was not, and was not understood to be, for all.

HELP ONE ANOTHER? Of course. What else are we here for? For example: Mr. Asa F. Bearse, of Cotuit, Mass., had been troubled for years with diseased liver and could get no relief. He was not fit for business, and carried his life like a burden on his back. Just then his friend, Capt. Handy, said: "Ass, why don't you send to Dr. David Kennedy, of Rondout, N. Y., and get a bottle of his 'Favorite Remedy.' It will only cost you a dollar, and may do you good." Bearse did so, and after a short time was sound as the dollar with which he bought the medicine. Trade Circular.

To the Honorable Judge of Probate, for the County of Penobscot:

The undersigned, administratrix of the estate of Hill Skenapolis, late of Levant, in said County, deceased, respectfully represents that the goods and chattels, rights and credits of said deceased are not sufficient to pay his just debts and charges of administration by about thirteen hundred dollars.

Wherefore your petitioner prays your Honor to grant her power to sell, by license at public or private sale, and convey the whole of the following described real estate of the deceased, (including the reversion of the widow's dower therein), as the residue would be greatly depreciated by a sale of any portion, viz: All the real estate of which the deceased died seized, situate in said Levant, including his homestead farm, to satisfy said debts, expenses of sale, and charges of administration.
